

What a great time for wig wearers!

Well you would never in your wildest dreams have thought you, as a wig wearer, were one of the luckiest people. Why is this? Because your wig does not need any ongoing professional hairdressing services, such as cutting or colouring, and the cleaning and styling of the wig is something you should be able to do yourself. With the current lockdown due to the Covid-19 pandemic affecting access to hairdressing services, wearing a wig has its compensations.

To get the best from your ready made wig, whether human hair or synthetic, however, it is important to use the correct shampoos, conditioners and dressing aids. Keeping your wigs clean avoids the build-up on the foundation of sebum and flakes of dead skin, leading to odour and affecting the appearance.

if you need a new wig or fancy a new look, then your wig can be ordered on line, from various suppliers. For the rest of us, we will need to wait for our hair cutting and styling until current restrictions are relaxed – at which point we will probably find that there is a backlog of appointments!

Carol Walker FIT LCGI Cert.Ed.
Consultant Trichologist
and Fellow of Institute of Trichologist (London).